

Spreading the Tax Burden in Windham by Expanding the Taxpayer Base

“Expanding the taxpayer base” isn’t a fancy way of saying “increasing taxes.” To the contrary, expanding the taxpayer base is about creating more assets on the tax rolls to spread the cost of operations across more taxpaying entities. This expansion, if done through commercial development (not residential) will result in more net income to Windham, thus reducing the share of the burden currently on residential taxpayers. This tax money contributes to the payment of costs related to town-funded community features that add to Windham’s quality of life – everything from great schools to safe roads.
